

REPORT	70% +	50-69%	40-49%	Weighting (should add up to 100)
Introduction (aims and objectives) (10%)	Well written + critical overview of topic, concisely summarising key point. Purpose and issues clearly defined	Good introduction to content of the report. Key points identified.	Basic introduction with brief summary of points which the project will address. Key points are possibly incomplete or lacking in detail on how they interrelate	10
Research/Investigation (max 50%)	Well done and precise research which is reflected in the project itself. The research should be done in reliable source and is cited accordingly	Adequate research done from reliable source	Satisfactory research done from reliable source.	25
Product Development (max 50%)	The product development should reflect good idea or concept, have good design be quality tested, reflect good technical and aesthetics decision and be well presented and organized and managed. The software end should be concise and well coded	The product development should have good concept, make use of relevant technology and organized and presented	The product development should have fair concept, with satisfactory design and quality	40
Evaluation + Conclusions (to include research and development where applicable) (max 25%)	Critical and insightful, descriptive and inclusive of product and summarises the project concisely.	Good evaluation of the project and good coverage of the project in the conclusion.	Partial or inadequate evaluation of the project.	10
Professional Practice (Project Management and Evaluation of Professional Skills) (10%)	Critical evaluation of the overall project with excellent analysis of the methodologies involved. Project limitations covered	Good evaluation of the project and methodologies. Project management techniques used	Limited or partial evaluation of project and project management techniques.	10
Presentation, Layout and Referencing (5%)	Excellent standard of appearance. Report is well structured and organised. Free (or minimal) spelling or grammatical errors – if any, it does not detract from the reading of the report.	Good standard of appearance with a logical flow. Sources cited. 3rd person used throughout or in majority.	Report conveys across the intended message. There may be sections that impact on the logical flow and structure. Sources cited but possible inconsistent or lacking correct referencing back to the	5

	Sources fully cited. Correct use of 3rd person		main document. Grammar and/or spelling impacting on readability.
				100
PRODUCT + PRESENTATION	70% +	50-69%	40-49%	Weighting
Quality of Product – define a set of metrics for product. (80 marks)	The final product should have user friendly interface should be customizable, and should be easy to integrate with home appliances, and should be upgradeable and well organized and reliable and relevant to current technology.	The product should meet the requirements as stated and be able to give a desired outcome and have minimum error and home automation simple.	Should have some amount of outcome as is claimed and perform the basic tasks with accuracy.	80
Presentation/QA (20 marks)	Presentation contains an accurate overview of all aspects of project management implementation and evaluation. Supported and demonstrated well through QA	Presentation contains an overview of most aspects of project management implementation and evaluation. Supported and demonstrated through QA	Presentation contains a limited overview of aspects of project management implementation and evaluation. QA is limited to specific point.	20
				100